ALL READY FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Thirteen Excursions Booked. Parade will be a Feature. Large Crowds and Good Weather Promised. Successful Day Predicted.

With the weather man relenting, after ten days of almost continuous rain, and promising bright sunshine and warm breezes for Friday, Memorial Day 1913 is likely to bring thousands of visitors here for the annual celebration. The Western Maryland has eleven excursions booked and the Reading two, bringing people from Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

The day will have all its usual features and several additional attractions which will be drawing cards for the sight-seers. The camp for the anniversary will be viewed with delight by a large portion of the visitors to town and the United States Regulars are always regarded with interest by the tourist who is not so accustomed to seeing them as our local people.

The first event of interest during the day will be the arrival of Congressman Heflin, of Alabama, who will deliver the oration in the National Cemetery in the afternoon. Mr. Heflin will arrive, according to his present plans, on the regular Western Maryland train, at 10:08. He will be accompanied by Congressman Brodbeck, of this district, and a number of other congressmen who are his friends. The agitation over the selection of Mr. Heflin as orator of the day has excited more than ordinary interest in the Alabama statesman and he will likely receive more attention than would otherwise have been the case.

At 1:15 in the afternoon the children from the schools of town will form in line and march to the National Cemetery where they will take their places preparatory to the strewing of flowers after the arrival of the big parade, which is scheduled to move at 1:30 and will be in charge of Captain I. S. Stonesifer.

In this parade will be the Gettysburg Band, the various local patriotic and civic organizations, the orator of the day and guests, the Grand Army veterans, Sons of Veterans and Veterans of the Spanish American War. An added feature will be the presence of an entire battalion—four companies—of the United States Infantry. Major Lasseigne has kindly consented to have his troops, here to guard the veterans' camp, participate in the parade and they will be in the line of march.

At the cemetery there will be a dirge by the band and the service of the Grand Army, after which the beautiful ceremony of strewing the flowers will occur. Over each grave will float a small American flag and the sight, always impressive, will be as much so as ever.

The exercises at the rostrum will consist of prayer, the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by Rev. Prof. Charles F. Sanders and the oration by Congressman J. Thomas Heflin. The benediction will close the exercises of the day which will be presided over by Congressman Andrew R. Brodbeck, of this district.

The railroads are preparing to handle immense crowds of people. The Pennsylvania will bring five large excursions in over Western Maryland tracks while the Western Maryland, itself, will run six. These with the specials over the Reading will bring a crowd which will rival that of last year when Theodore Roosevelt was the great attraction.

TWO KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Party Expected as Guests in Gettysburg Home Meet with Terrible Accident in which Two are Killed. Well Known here.

Mrs. Rosella Berger and Miss Bertie Berger, of Cumberland, Md., two of a party expected this afternoon as guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Miller, on York street, were killed last evening, just west of the Cumberland city limits when an automobile in which they were riding skidded and crashed into a telephone pole. Mr. Berger, who was driving the car, and another daughter, Miss Erma Berger, were thrown out and injured.

The family expected to attend the exercises of commencement week at Irving College where Miss Bertie Berger graduated several years ago, and on their way there anticipated stopping with Miss Reba Miller at her home on York street. Mrs. Berger and her two daughters have many friends in Gettysburg where they have visited frequently and the news of the tragedy will be a shock to many people here.

It is believed that Mr. Berger took his family out for a little spin on Wednesday evening to see the condition of some of the roads they would cover on their trip to Gettysburg. They were returning to Cumberland about 7:45 o'clock.

James O'Hara was ahead in his automobile. Mr. Berger tried to pass O'Hara, who spurred, but was compelled to slow down on a sharp curve near the Standard Oil plant. A delivery wagon was approaching O'Hara, who avoided it, but it came in between the cars.

In avoiding the wagon, Mr. Berger ran his machine toward the fence on the left hand side of the sloping road. It struck a telephone pole and plunged into a fence. The occupants were thrown out.

Mrs. Berger was killed instantly, and her daughter died shortly after being removed to the Allegheny Hospital. Mrs. Berger's face was mashed and her skull crushed. Her features are not recognizable.

Miss Berger's head was crushed in. She was pulled out from under the fence.

The other daughter, Erma, was not seriously hurt. The father escaped with a few scratches.

Witnesses say Berger was going at least 50 miles an hour. At the point of the accident the road slopes toward the fence and is filled with piles of stones. The chassis was torn off the machine, the doors broken out and the body wrecked.

Mr. Berger is a retired lumber operator and is the proprietor of the Queen City Garage. Miss Berger was proprietress of the Cumberland Art Store.

Gen. C. Irvine Walker was the chairman of this committee, which urged that at least 10,000 Confederate veterans attend the celebration.

Cheers greeted the announcement in the committee report that the Confederate Veterans would be welcomed "in their gray uniforms and with their battle-scarred flags."

GOVERNOR BLEASE WILL NOT BE HERE

Carolina Governor will not Come to Gettysburg and would also Prefer that Veterans of that State should Stay away.

Governor Cole Blease, sah, of South Carolina reckons, sah, that he won't attend the great Gettysburg celebration, sah, on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary, sah, of the big fight, sah, which took place in that Pennsylvania town, sah, and Governor Cole Blease, sah, of South Carolina, sah, has made the announcement that he puts the ban on the Gettysburg reunion, has withdrawn his acceptance of the invitation to be present, and has advised the Confederate veterans of South Carolina to remain away.

The New York "Herald" announces that Governor Blease, the unspeakable Blease, of South Carolina, has done all of these things, and it is presumed that Blease is now standing off with arms folded and calmly awaiting the wreck of the entire Gettysburg celebration.

As a matter of fact Blease has not yet been invited to take part in the celebration. About four years ago South Carolina was invited to appoint a commissioner to represent that State in the general commission to arrange for the Gettysburg celebration and a prominent South Carolina Confederate General, commander of the United Confederate Association, General Teague, was appointed and has been acting with the commission to make the affair a success. General Teague has been very active in seeing veterans in the South and writes that they are most enthusiastic for the project. If Blease has told the South Carolina veterans to remain, they are going to disregard his request, for over 400 will be present.

But as to Blease's withdrawing his invitation, that is another thing. No invitations to Governors have been sent out as yet, but it is expected that Governor Tener, acting in conjunction with the State Commission, will send them out shortly, so that Blease is slightly premature. The only conjecture that can be made as to why Blease is miffed about going to Gettysburg, is that he couldn't get a delegation of reputable citizens to take places on his military staff, and he is going to break up the whole show, if he can't be "it." He never will be missed.

CALLS CHARGE AGAINST T. R. SILLY

Witness Says He Never Saw Him Other Than Sobor.

DEFENSE REVEALS ITS HAND

Will Claim Editor Accused of Libel Merely Repeated Current Talk as to Colonel's Habits.

Marquette, Mich., May 29. — The star witness in behalf of Colonel Roosevelt in the ex-president's suit against Editor George A. Newett, of Ishpeming, for alleged libel, was John Callan O'Loughlin, Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune.

It gave O'Loughlin an opportunity to expound a Roosevelt policy in decidedly effective fashion, when Attorney Belden, for Newett, referred to the ordering of an American battleship fleet to make a trip around the world.

"Colonel Roosevelt ordered the fleet around the world as a demonstration to the world, and Japan in particular, that the United States was ready for war, if need be," said the witness.

Attorney Belden objected, but Judge Flannigan ruled that the statement was a fair answer to the question.

"During your twenty years' experience with Colonel Roosevelt have you ever seen him in the slightest degree under the influence of liquor?"

"I not only never saw him under the influence of liquor, but it seems absolutely silly to me to have anyone suggest the fact that he ever was," replied O'Loughlin emphatically.

"Isn't it true that it was commonly stated and printed in the press that Colonel Roosevelt drank to excess in 1912?"

"That is not true. I will say that I do not know a newspaper man in Washington who ever made such a statement or gave the slightest credence to such rumor. They knew positively that it was not true."

Attorney Belden stated that it was the intention of the defense to ask future witnesses, in an attempt to show the position of the defense, that there was in existence a general reputation amounting to a general reputation that Colonel Roosevelt does use liquors and sometimes to excess; that these reports were published in newspapers and that Colonel Roosevelt read these reports and this charge had never been contradicted by him; the defendant published the report of the former president's reputed excessive use of intoxicants, believing it to be true and not with any malice.

Attorney Belden maintained that such testimony was required to show the good faith and absence of malice in the publication of the defendant's editorial. It could not be in the presence of widespread comment by the public and in important newspapers, stated the lawyer, that Mr. Roosevelt had been greatly damaged by the repetition of charges of intoxication in a remote weekly with a circulation of about 3000 copies.

"I propose to show," continued the lawyer, "that such charges as were made in the Iron Ore were by no means confined to this section. The plaintiff during 1912 was the most talked-of man in the United States, and we expect to introduce testimony to show that adverse comment as to his habits were made in many other parts of the country. This point bears strongly in showing the absence of malice on the part of the defendant."

"In the declaration to this suit the plaintiff not only includes the question of his use or non-use of liquors, but also that of his general reputation," said Mr. Belden.

The court asked Mr. Belden whether the defense would combat the position of the plaintiff that malice in the publication of the article was a basis for damages. Mr. Belden answered proof of malice undoubtedly would be the basis for damages, and the defense would combat the attitude of the plaintiff.

Attorney James Pound, for the plaintiff, said: "At first I wanted to sue for $50,000, but Colonel Roosevelt insisted that the amount asked for should be nominal. He did not want to be vindictive, but wanted merely damages for the publication of a falsehood."

ARMOR PLANT COMES HIGH

Rear Admiral Twining Says It Would Cost $8,000,000 to Build.

Washington, May 29. — An armor plate factory capable of producing 8000 tons of armor a year would cost $8,000,000 to build and nearly $1,000,000 a year to operate.

This was the statement of Rear Admiral Twining, chief of the bureau of ordnance, who testified before the senate naval affairs committee. Senator Ashurst has introduced a bill for a government plant.

STATE SENATE PASSES ELECTROCUTION BILL

Goes Back to the House For Concurrence.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 29. — The senate passed finally the house bill providing that all condemned murderers shall be put to death by electrocution.

The bill now goes back to the house for concurrence in the senate amendments.

The bill provides that all electrocutions shall take place in a building to be erected at the new western penitentiary now building in Centre county.

After a person is condemned to die the governor shall issue a death warrant naming the week in which electrocution shall take place. When the warden of the penitentiary receives the warrant he shall notify the prison authorities of the county in which the condemned man is to be executed, where he shall be placed in solitary confinement until the day of execution.

Those who may be permitted to witness the electrocution besides the warden and his assistants are one physician, one spiritual adviser, six citizens and not more than six representatives of newspapers.

The bill becomes effective as soon as approved, but will not effect a condemned man who committed murder prior to the date of the approval of the act.

Anti-Vaccination Bill Loses.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 29. — The bill to amend the vaccination law so that vaccination should be required only in time of outbreaks of smallpox, was defeated in the house. The same fate befell the bill to require trolley car searchlights to be shut off when approaching a vehicle.

JAPANESE PLAYING POLITICS

Tokio, Japan, May 29. — The executive committee of Count Katsura's new party issued a statement declaring that the present cabinet could not be relied upon to settle the California alien land question.

It added that, after a conference with Count Katsura, who is convalescent from a recent illness, the party had decided to adopt its own propaganda with regard to the dispute.

There are indications that the opposition parties in Japan are utilizing the California problem to discredit the Yamamoto ministry, and to further their own interests.

The cabinet is generally conceded to be in a strong position with the public, chiefly because of the extensive economies and administrative reforms which it has brought about.

New York, May 29. — Former State Senator Stephen J. Stillwell, convicted of bribery by a jury last week after he had been exonerated by the New York state senate, was sentenced to serve not less than four years nor more than eight years in Sing Sing prison.

Judge Barnhorst does his duty to RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

If you suffer from Rheumatism and don't read this advice, then the terrible disease must have robbed you of your power to be fair to yourself. Read it: "I, John Barnhorst, Justice of the Peace of McLean Township, Ft. Loramie, Ohio, do certify that after treatment by three doctors without result, I have been cured of a very bad case of Rheumatism by using two bottles of RHEUMA. It is now two years since I used this remedy, and am still as well as ever. Previous to using RHEUMA I was a cripple, walking with crutches, and I feel it my duty to let other sufferers from Rheumatism know what it will do. The result seems almost miraculous to me. I have advised RHEUMA to at least a dozen persons, and each one speaks as highly of it as I. I will answer any one suffering from the disease if a two-cent stamp is enclosed." —May 31, 1912.

You can secure a bottle of RHEUMA for only 50 cents at The People's Drug Store and they say if not as advertised, money back. It's just as good for Gout, Arthritis, Lumbago and Sciatica.

President Buchanan's birthplace in the Gap a few miles from Mercersburg, has been beautified by the planting of 3100 Norway spruce trees. Twenty-seven hundred trees were planted to the acre. A wire fence now encloses three acres which takes in the monument and the site of the old homestead. The trees were planted under the supervision of Alfred E. Ruppel, the state forester who is located at Fort Loudon.

PLAN CHANGES IN TARIFF MEASURE

TO SAFEGUARD TREATIES

Leaders Seek Counsel at State Department Regarding Foreign Protests Against the Bill.

Washington, May 29.—Members of the sub-committee of the senate finance committee met behind closed doors and plunged into the mass of briefs and testimony relating to the Underwood tariff schedules, preparatory to making their reports to the entire committee some time next week. Many items, some senators have declared, probably will be changed.

While the sub-committees were at work Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, sought counsel with Secretary Bryan and John Bassett Moore, counselor of the state department, regarding foreign protests against administrative features of the bill.

The committee is considering the elimination of the clause which would extend a five per cent tariff discount on imports in American-owned or controlled ships. Many nations have protested that the clause is a violation of treaty rights.

The tariff bill as reported to the Democratic caucus, after the revision by the sub-committees, it is forecasted, will be as follows in the important particulars:

There will be no change in the cotton, sugar and wool schedules as written into the measure by the house, with the exception of a slight increase in duty on wool manufactures.

The only change in the income tax section will be an alteration of subsection "D" so that a man with a family will not be compelled to pay as great a tax as a single man with the same income. This will be arranged by an exemption of $500, in addition to exemptions already stipulated by the Underwood bill, for each member of a family.

On the cotton and wool schedules a period of from sixty to ninety days of grace will be given to manufacturers before the provisions of the new bill go into effect. The rest of the bill will be administered the day after its passage, as provided in the house bill.

An amendment permitting the arbitrary valuation of imports by the secretary of the treasury will be adopted. In the metal schedule, duties on structural steel will be revised downward, while ferro-manganese and pig iron will be free listed.

Wheat, cattle and other staples, manufactures of which are already on the free list, will be free listed.

Duties on pottery will be raised. These changes it was stated of high authority, are those which the members of the sub-committee of the finance committee have in mind as a result of the hearings which ended Tuesday. President Wilson has been notified of the proposed changes in the bill, it is said, and has approved of them.

TWINS BREAK UP HEARING

Came to Three Mothers Who Were Witnesses in Case.

Scranton, Pa., May 29.—Alderman James Moir's court was crowded to the doors to hear the slander suit of Mrs. Joseph Savage against Mrs. Joseph Childs.

While they were waiting Constable Warren La France, who had been out to subpoena the witnesses, rushed into the room and went straightway up to the magistrate's desk.

Alderman Moir leaned back in his chair and announced a postponement of the hearing because of the absence of three material witnesses, Mrs. Ellen O'Boyle, Mrs. Hanna Boyd and Mrs. Margaret Stanton.

What the constable whispered to the magistrate was: "There's twins at the O'Boyle house, and there's twins at the Stanton house and twins at Mrs. Boyd's."

FROZEN CABBAGE KILLS

Man and Wife Were Poisoned and Woman Dies.

Pine Grove, Pa., May 29.—Poisoned cabbage is attributed as the cause of the death of Mrs. Minnie Berger, the wife of Erwin Berger, the latter having had a narrow escape.

The vegetable had been frozen and is supposed to have become infected from that source. The husband was first taken violently ill, but he recovered in a short time.

The wife ate her heartily than her husband and her end result was poisoned. Physicians were unable to do anything for her and she gradually sank until she died.

QUEEN MARY FORCES SON TO QUIT CLUB

Prince of Wales Participates in Evening of Drink and Song.

London, May 29.—The young Prince of Wales has just received a reminder that although, as an Oxford student, he rejoices in the appellation of a man, his mother at least looks upon him as a subject to maternal rules.

When the prince went to the "variety" he was anxious to join one or other of the clubs which confer a certain sort of distinction on favored undergraduates. One of the most famous of these is the Bullington club, membership in which indicates exceptional popularity among the youth of the university.

Of course this club was open to the prince, as any other would have been. However, he had a certain amount of difficulty in getting his parents' permission to join the Bullington, and eventually obtained it only on the understanding that he never join in what is known as a "Bullington blind," a euphemistic phrase for an evening of drink and song.

Unluckily the prince was persuaded to participate in one of these "blinds" a few weeks ago, and a report that he had succumbed to temptation was not long in reaching his royal parents. The result was that the prince was directed by telegram to remove his name from the Bullington.

It is worthy of note that the telegram came from Queen Mary, not from the king.

M'CARTY LEFT $30,000

Chicago, May 29.—Luther McCarty, the heavyweight boxer, killed in his fight with Arthur Pelkey at Calgary on Saturday, left an estate worth $30,000, according to the estimate of Attorney V. R. Lovell, of Fargo, N. D., who came here in the interest of the fighter's widow.

"McCarty spent considerable in traveling and living, and I don't think there is much more than $30,000 left," said the lawyer. "This belongs to the widow and the fatherless daughter she has been caring for in Fargo for the last two years. Mrs. McCarty still works in a restaurant there. So far as we know McCarty didn't leave a will."

DENIES STEEL MONOPOLY PLAN

Gary Says Morgan Didn't Try to Suppress Competition.

TELLS OF TRUST'S OBJECTS

Declares Formation of Corporation Was a Complete Proposition From Mining Ore to the Finished Steel.

New York, May 29.—Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, and the man who conducted many of the negotiations which led to its organization, declared on the witness stand that neither he nor the late J. P. Morgan, nor anybody else concerned, had ever during these negotiations discussed the question of obtaining a monopoly in the steel industry or of suppressing competition.

Judge Gary was testifying as a witness for the defense in the suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law.

The witness in a detailed recital of the circumstances which led to the formation of the corporation and endeavored to show that the sole purpose that actuated its organizers was to obtain "a rounded out, self contained proposition, complete in every phase of manufacture from the mining of ore to the production of diverse finished products in the mills, with the ability to reduce costs to the most economical basis and particularly to develop an export trade."

"Our effort," he said emphatically, "has been to extend trade and to foster competition, and we have done that."

With equal emphasis Judge Gary denied that the S. S. corporation had been overcapitalized as alleged by the government. The various properties acquired "were all worth the price that was paid for them," he declared, while the ore properties of the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron Mine, John D. Rockefeller's concern, were obtained, "it has since been proved, at a very low price."

He denied that the Federal Steel company, the nucleus around which the corporation was formed, was a monopoly in itself, as alleged by the government, and recalled that when the Federal and some of the other steel companies, now subsidiaries of the corporation, were investigated by the industrial commission of congress in 1939, no complaint was entered against them by the department of justice or any other branch of the government.

"Was the alleged threat of Andrew Carnegie to go into the steel business discussed or alluded to by Mr. Morgan or any one else?" "It was not," said the witness.

Judge Gary said that he would not deny that competition existed "to some extent" between the Carnegie company and the Illinois Steel company, a subsidiary of the Federal Steel company.

"The Carnegie company did sell rails in the Chicago district lower than the Illinois," he testified, "and could do what they came near doing at one time—forcing the Illinois company into the hands of a receiver—and the Illinois could retaliate. But I don't think that was the kind of competition that should be considered. Each company had a natural territory of its own and they were not in competition in the bulk of their products. They lapped over, but the competition was incidental."

The Political Influence of the PUBLIC LEDGER

Commenting on the price of the PUBLIC LEDGER, a subscriber writes: "In the coming battle against the 'gang' your paper is needed by the mass of voters and not by the select few who are able, or at least willing, to pay the increased cost."

The PUBLIC LEDGER is intended for the intelligent classes—the unintelligent masses would not have it as a gift. If there is any class of people who are more responsible than another for the impression that Philadelphia is "corrupt and contented" it is the smug and self-complacent class who sit in leather chairs in the clubs on Broad and Walnut Streets, and do not care enough for their city to disturb themselves with party regularity and the established order. If the PUBLIC LEDGER can get under the skin of such "classes" and arouse them to action, it can do a service to Philadelphia that could not possibly be accomplished by a cheap paper appealing to the unintelligent masses.

In the coming political battle, whether the PUBLIC LEDGER cuts a small or large figure will depend entirely upon the stuff in its columns, and not upon the price at which it is sold.

Read the PUBLIC LEDGER regularly. By carrier, daily and Sunday, 17 cents a week. By mail, outside of Philadelphia, daily, 50 cents a month; daily and Sunday, 75 cents a month.

ONE DEAD IN WRECK

Eleven Others Injured in Wreck on Western Maryland.

One man was killed and 11 injured in a head-on collision Wednesday afternoon between two freight trains on the Western Maryland railroad on Big Six curve, near Cohill, five miles west of Hancock.

C. E. Geist, fireman on the east-bound train, of Hagerstown, was killed. Eight trainmen and three train riders were injured. The injured were taken to the Washington County Hospital, Hagerstown.

It is said the wreck was due to misunderstanding of orders. Second Section of train No. 342, eastbound, in charge of Conductor C. C. Brake and Engineer L. M. Stevens, collided with extra No. 755, westbound, in charge of Conductor W. O. Myers and Engineer J. C. Knisely. Both engines were derailed.

Nineteen cars, loaded with coal, on the eastbound train were demolished and nine empties of the westbound train smashed. A number of cars rolled down a steep embankment into the Chesapeake and Ohio canal. The fast mail for Baltimore from Elkins, and other trains, were derailed around the wreck over the Baltimore and Ohio via Baird and Cherry Run.

Clothes and the Man.

It is doubtful if Uncle Joe Cannon ever owned a silk hat. Nobody around Washington remembers seeing him wear one. Next to his cigar, nothing is quite so familiar to his friends as the type of black soft hat which he has made famous. It recalls an amusing incident that occurred in the old Arlington hotel a few years ago. Mr. Cannon strolled into the place one evening with his secretary, L. White Busbey. Now it happened that Busbey was always a good deal heavier on dress than his chief. This particular night he was immaculate.

"There's Uncle Joe Cannon," he said, nudging the stranger.

"You don't tell me!" exclaimed the visitor, looking at Busbey. "Who is that old slouch with him?"—Washington Star.

A TIMID GIRL

By JOHN B. OVERAKER

Nellie was her name, though if she had been born in New England when they were naming children for the human virtues they would have called her Modesty. Timidity would have also described her, for she appeared to be afraid of her shadow. She was a typewriter in my private bank out in the western town of B. My institution was a small one, and I required but a small force. There was one teller, who paid and received; also a bookkeeper, a boy and my typewriter.

One day a party of robbers rode into an adjoining town, pulled up at the bank, shot the cashier dead, emptied the loose currency into bags and galloped away, all within seven minutes. Their leader was known to be a desperate youngster called Kid Malone, scarcely twenty-two years old.

When Kid Malone a few days later rode into another town and robbed another bank with only one man to assist him and in less time than before, it occurred to me that I had better be taking measures to prepare for an attack on my own institution. I called my little force together for consultation. The cashier proposed that a revolver be so fixed in the door of my private office that I could fire it immediately on the appearance of a robber and another be similarly fixed to his window. The bookkeeper should also be armed. Rob, the boy, said he intended to arm himself with hand grenades. When it came Nellie's turn to make suggestions she said she couldn't think of anything. In case a robber came she would duck under her typewriter table. But after a number of propositions, none of which seemed to be practical, she gathered her wit and surprised us all by a very sensible proposition.

"These preparations to fight desperate men frighten me. It seems to me that they should rather be met by artifice. Until this scare is over how would I do to conceal the cash in something that could be easily removed? I know you'll think it ridiculous, but I have an idea that I think I could work myself if I could only keep enough courage. How would it do to have a baby carriage standing near the back door with a lot of little pillows and blankets and quilts in it, just as though there was a baby asleep, and under the covering to keep the cash during banking hours? Then if this Kid Malone comes to rob the bank I can shriek, run to the baby carriage and wheel it away."

"That's an idea worth considering," said I.

The more I thought about Nellie's plan the more I approved of it. A baby carriage was procured, and as soon as the bank opened in the morning the bulk of the funds was put in it and kept there till after 3 o'clock when we closed the doors. The carriage stood in a hallway, the opening to which was screened so as to conceal the bank officials when they went to it to put in or take out cash. Nellie's machine was within a few feet of the passage, and in case of trouble it would be the most natural thing in the world for her to take to flight through the exit. All I feared was that if we were attacked the girl would be so frightened that she would not stay in her flight to wheel away the treasure.

We kept up our precaution for three days, and since it was quite inconvenient in doing business I was about to abandon it, but Nellie said she had dreamed that Kid Malone had appeared and somehow had got away with a lot of money. I am ashamed to confess that I was influenced by this dream, which decided me to keep up our precaution for another day.

About 11 o'clock the next morning a clatter of horses' hoofs was heard coming down the street. Nellie heard it and turned pale. She didn't wait for robbers to reach the bank. She ran for the baby carriage, and both she and it disappeared. I heard the ridding party stop before the bank and still, in tending to submit to a robbery of what few bills there were on the counters. The teller crouched down below his window, the bookkeeper ducked under his desk, and, as for Bob, he followed Nellie out through the back door.

I waited every minute expecting to see armed men come in through the front door, but nobody came. Then I heard the horses without trot away. I was wondering what it all meant when Bob came in and cried:

"Stung!"

He had been running and was out of breath. When he recovered he said that Nellie had gone from the back around to the front door, where one of the party of riders had helped her on to a horse, while another had taken the contents of the baby carriage under his arm, and, mounting, the party had ridden out of town.

I could not believe the story and hurried out to the street, where I saw the baby carriage standing on the sidewalk. A crowd was gathering, several of whom assured me that they had seen my typewriter riding away beside a man whom they recognized for Kid Malone.

I went back into the bank and told my force to keep their mouths shut. I was not entirely broken up by the loss, though I was badly crippled. Fortunately we kept only enough cash in the bank to get on with, the rest being hidden in my home.

Nellie was Kid Malone's girl, and she had secured a place in my bank of purpose to assist him to rob me.

Best Thing.

Sure Queer.

"There's just one queer thing about this crime," said the detective.

"What is that?" inquired the chief of police.

Her Sarcasm.

"It is 1:30 o'clock," severely said Mrs. Gingsway.

RECEIVERS FOR 'FRISCO LINES

Railroad Co. Unable to Meet Maturing Loans.

C. & E. I. ALSO INVOLVED

The Immediate Cause of Action is the Railroad's Inability to Meet $2,250,000 Obligation.

St. Louis, May 28.—Thomas H. West, chairman of the board of directors of the St. Louis Trust company, and B. L. Winchell, president of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad company, were appointed receivers for the "Frisco" railroad system in the federal district court here.

The receivership proceedings were decided on at a conference of large bondholders of the railway and a number of the directors, including B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the board; James Campbell, Thomas West, Festus J. Wade, B. L. Winchell, president of the company, and Murray Carleton. The petition was made in the name of Mr. West and other directors. It was based on the inability of the railroad to meet a maturing loan of $2,250,000 on short time 5 per cent notes, due June 1.

Soon after his arrival from St. Paul Judge Sanborn went into consultation with Frederick W. Lehmann, attorney; Henry S. Priest, attorney, and Mr. West. The St. Louis Union Trust company heretofore has been taking care of the important financial obligations of the "Frisco" system.

A director, who would not allow his name to be used, speaking of the company's affairs, said:

"The 'Frisco' has been under a severe handicap for some time. Operating expenses and fixed charges have continued to offset large gains in gross earnings, due to increased wages for trainmen and the high rates prevailing for money. In the southwest floods a year and two years ago the 'Frisco' suffered losses running into the millions."

The total bonded indebtedness of the system is $237,572,162. The total mileage, including the subsidiary lines, is 7544 miles.

Shortly before the appointment of the receivers for the Frisco system the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad, which is controlled by the St. Louis & San Francisco, was also placed in the hands of receivers. The complaint was filed by the Railway Steel Spring company.

In the bill of complaint it is said that the road has $70,000,000 of bonds outstanding, on which there is an annual interest due of more than $3,000,000. The outstanding indebtedness of the road was placed at $5,372,050, of which $2,600,000 is in accounts payable.

J. HAM LEWIS NAMED A SENATE WHIP

Elected to Keep Democrats at Work.

Washington, May 29. — Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, was elected Democratic floor manager and assistant to Majority Leader Kern by the senate Democratic caucus.

Senator Lewis' position is a new one to the senate and corresponds to the whip in the house.

The caucus adopted a resolution urging all Democratic senators to remain in Washington and went upon record as opposed to any long trips until the tariff bill has been disposed of. Because of their slender majority plans were discussed for keeping the members in line and getting them to the senate for important votes.

The caucus also named a committee to confer with a committee from the house and members of the national Democratic committee regarding reorganization of the congressional campaign committee. Senators Gore, Newlands, Chamberlain, Shively and Thomas were named.

Representative Lloyd, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, will confer with the committee of Democratic senators regarding the proposed increase of senatorial representation on the campaign committee, and he will call a meeting of the congressional organization for Monday night, when he will present recommendations.

WILSON FOR DIRECT CHOICE

Favors Nomination and Election to Presidency Without Conventions.

Washington, May 29.—Representative Britten, of Illinois, sought President Wilson's views on his measure to provide a six-year single term tenure for the president and the vice president, the abolition of nomination conventions, the nomination for president and vice president at presidential preference primaries and direct elections without the use of presidential electors.

Mr. Britten said on leaving the White House that the president favored the abolition of national conventions for nominating purposes, but thought them necessary to draft party platforms. He declared that Mr. Wilson approved of presidential primaries and direct election, which would shorten the ballot. On the six-year proposition, Mr. Britten said, the president refrained from comment.

NEW HARD COAL SUITS

Washington, May 28.—Several new suits will be filed against the Reading Coal and Iron company, "the anthracite trust," by the department of justice within the next few weeks.

"We are going to file ever so many new suits and press them to the limit."
